The National Carrier of Papua New Guinea
Air Niugini:
More than just an Airline

Air Niugini is proud to welcome you to Papua New Guinea, a unique destination!
History

- Air Niugini took to the skies in 1973, establishing Papua New Guinea’s domestic routes and opening up previously inaccessible areas to locals and tourists.
- To the people of Papua New Guinea, Air New Guinea is more than just their national airline, it is the symbol of their country’s astonishing progress.
- Not only has Air Niugini provided a massive boost to trade and tourism over the years, but it has also helped bringing diverse local communities together – creating a more unified nation.
- Government owned by 60%
- Named after the Tok Pisin word ‘Niugini’ which translates into ‘New Guinea’, Papua New Guinea finally had a national airline to call its own.
