NEWS AND EVENTS

Eswatini Air celebrates one year in the sky

Eswatini Air celebrated its first year of operations in March. The airline has reportedly carried approximately 28,000 passengers during its maiden year.

Represented by AirlinePros International in South Africa, Eswatini Air hopes to add additional routes and offer cargo services to more SADC states in the future.

Qiniso Dhlamini, CEO, shared a heartfelt thank you to all of Eswatini Air's stakeholders on Facebook on the anniversary, which he said was a significant milestone.

Pictured above: Airport staff celebrate the anniversary of Eswatini Air's maiden flight to Johannesburg. Happy birthday, RN! May you continue to fly high!

The CEO said continued support would propel the airline forward, and added: "As we embark on our second year, we will take all the lessons learned thus far and recalibrate Eswatini Air's strategic plans to ensure further value creation for our stakeholders and sustainability for the airline. Let us take a moment to celebrate our achievements and use it as a springboard for even greater heights."

"We remain committed to connecting Eswatini to the world, deepening ties within SADC, enabling easy movement for our people and businesses, fostering tourism, and providing exceptional service that reflects the warmth and hospitality of our nation."

"I am immensely honoured to witness our flagship, Eswatini Air, reaching this significant milestone. While we officially launched Eswatini Air in 2023, the taxing journey towards that auspicious occasion started much earlier. In the build-up to the launch and since, our staff has shown their professionalism and confidence, and I am both proud and grateful," said Captain Qiniso Dhlamini.
