AVIANCA (AV)

After more than 100 years in operation, avianca, the national airline of Colombia, provides extensive connectivity across the Americas and to key destinations in Europe. The airline's staggering route network is further enhanced through code-share agreements with major international carriers. It is also a Star Alliance member. Following a comprehensive re-branding – highlighted by the intentional lower-case 'a' - avianca is committed to advancing air transport in its many markets, underpinned by its belief that 'the sky belongs to all of us'. This vision is backed up by world-class aircraft, products, and services.
