Norse Atlantic shines at the Sure Travel Conference 2025

In early September, Norse Atlantic Airways was proud to serve as a Silver Sponsor at the Sure Travel Conference in Johannesburg.

Represented by AirlinePros South Africa Marketing & Customer Relationship Manager, Souza Faubert (pictured left), and Chief Commercial Officer, Karin Matodes (right), our commercial team celebrated the upcoming launch of the Cape Town - London Gatwick route with industry partners and key stakeholders.

The conference was an energetic platform for connection, offering invaluable opportunities to engage with top bookers and industry leaders. Karin added: "It was a fun, interactive day strengthening relationships and gearing up for our second season. We're excited to offer unbeatable fares through our GDS - this is just the beginning."

Aligning with the theme - "Virtually Possible, Physically Unstoppable!" - Norse Atlantic's innovative low-cost long-haul model and expanding network are making international travel more accessible and affordable. More than 4-million passengers have travelled with the airline since its first flight in 2022.

Based on the airline's latest performance stats, shared in September, August was the 10th consecutive month the airline achieved load factors above 90%.

Bjørn Tore Larsen, CEO and founder of Norse Atlantic (pictured right), maintained that the performance was driven by the airline's unique model, which he described as a "data-driven market strategy, supported by modern aircraft, and great staff providing excellent travel experiences.

"Since we started flying three years ago, over 4-million passengers have enjoyed our affordable, value-for-money product, and we maintain good momentum as we continue through the third quarter," the CEO maintained.

Excited about the new season's possibilities, Karin concluded: "We look forward to welcoming more passengers and invite our partners to take advantage of the fantastic fares now available."
