

STARLUX AIRLINES (JX)

AirlinePros is excited to represent premium carrier STARLUX Airlines in Canada at a time when the outbound market is increasingly seeking unique, high-quality travel experiences. Meanwhile, STARLUX Airlines is enjoying an exciting period of growth and network development, serving 20 destinations from its hub in Taipei (TPE) and planning to add its first long-haul routes to Europe in 2026.

For convenient trip planning and booking, STARLUX Airlines fares from Canada to the East connect via US-operated gateways (US cities include LAX, SFO, SEA, ONT and PHX) and are available in all GDS systems. Connecting flights from Canada are currently operated under an interline agreement with partner Alaska Airlines (AS).

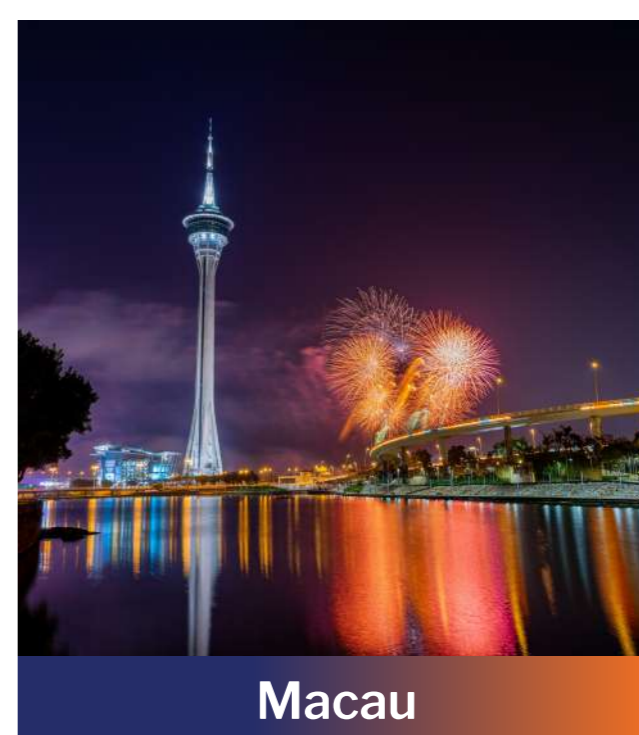

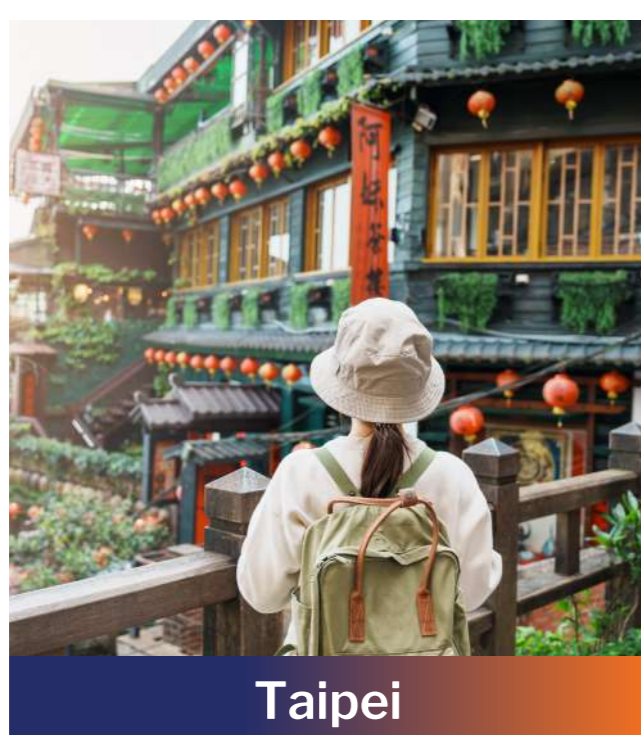

See below for more product news developments and destination spotlights to inspire your next Best of Asia itinerary.

AGENT'S CORNER

- Agents in Canada qualify for a 3% commission on all new STARLUX bookings.
- In January, STARLUX took delivery of its first Airbus A350-1000 wide-body aircraft – a major milestone in its long-haul network development journey due to the aircraft's extended range capabilities, fuel savings, and "superior passenger comforts" onboard. The aircraft will initially be used to launch STARLUX's first European routes (second half of 2026), with additional aircraft deliveries earmarked to enable future services to the US East Coast. Configured with four cabin classes - First Class, Business Class, Premium Economy, and Economy - the STARLUX A350-1000 offers 350 seats.
- The arrival of STARLUX's first A350 is not the only major development. In February, STARLUX signed a purchase agreement with Airbus for five new A350F freighters and three more A330neo widebody aircraft. Besides its improved fuel efficiency, the A350F has a greater payload capacity and a wider door, enabling the transportation of oversized cargo. This will mean great versatility for STARLUX's cargo operations.
- Welcome to the team, Irina! Irina Vincent from Toronto has joined AirlinePros Canada as Regional Sales Manager, representing airline partners including STARLUX Airlines. With more than 20 years in aviation and travel - including several years as a Sales Account Executive - Irina brings deep knowledge of the Canadian market and proficiency in Amadeus. Irina's focused on providing strategic guidance to improve account performance and achieve sales goals, and values building strong, long-lasting relationships with clients and partners. Wishing you all the best in the role, Irina!
